FIRE! FIRE!! FIRE!!!

F. A. Newsted's House and Barn Burned to the Ground.

Again the awful cry of fire rang out on the morning air Tuesday, September 4th. About 4 o'clock a. m., F. A. Newsted who is night watchman for the village, noticed the reflection of a fire in the direction of his own residence and as he was in the neighborhood of S. O. Welch & Son's flouring mill he hurried to the engine house and rang the alarm. Within a short space of time the engine and hose cart were at the scene. There being no well of water in the neighborhood the engine was run down the embankment to the bed of Mill Creek and two streams of water were soon playing on the dwelling house which could have been saved had not the engine given out by gravel getting into the valves. Before the engine could be repaired the whole house was in flames.

The fire originated in the barn and everything being so dry it spread very rapidly to the house which was only about two rods away. Only a small portion of the household goods was removed. It is reported that a few of these were stolen by some low, contemptible persons.

No lantern, lamp or fire had been taken into the barn by the family for more than a month and how the fire could have originated unless set by some meanly disposed person is a mystery. If the village of Yale contains an organized set of thieves and barn burners the sooner they are brought to justice the better for the community, and every effort should be used by our citizens to find out the guilty ones. This fire made a loss of about $800, with $400 insurance. Mr. Newsted is an industrious laboring man and not well able to stand the loss. It is astonishing how low a person may fall as to burn up a poor man's hard earned property. It is certainly a pity that those fire fiends can not be caught and punished for their evil doing.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Monday, September 3, was Charles Tunis' forty-seventh birthday, and to celebrate the occasion about fifty of his friends decided to give him a surprise. The company met at the residence of his father-in-law, John Teetzel's, and from there repaired to the home of Mr. Tunis, arriving there just as he had come from work at the Centre Star Roller Mill. He had no sooner sat down to read the evening paper when the company broke in on him. The surprise was complete. Ice cream and other refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening enjoyed by the entire gathering. On leaving the company presented Mr. Tunis with a handsome easy chair. Charley wishes us to return many thanks to his friends for the beautiful present and he assures us that this occasion will be remembered by him through life.
